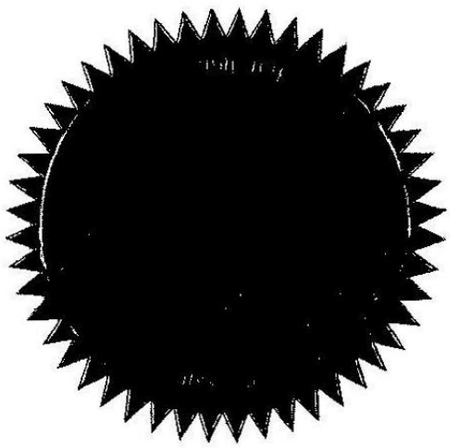
State of South Dakota
Office of the Governor

By virtue of the authority vested in him, the Governor of the state of South Dakota extends his greetings and hereby proclaims:

JOHN LOCKIE

an honorary citizen of South Dakota...a state famed for its historical landmarks, recreational beauty, opportunity in agriculture, education, business and industry. With agriculture being the number one industry, and cattle production claiming a large piece of the economic pie, it is fitting and proper for the Governor to recognize an individual from Montana that often refers to South Dakota as his "home state." John Lockie, Executive Director of R-CALF USA, receives this honorary citizenship for a day, September 19, 2003, for his extensive travel throughout South Dakota. Over the past 12 months, John has traveled to almost every livestock auction market and cattle producer in the state to visit about issues that are crucial to the survival of the cattle industry and South Dakota's economic well-being, and I thank him for his dedication and hard work.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Thirtieth Day of July in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand and Three.



M. Michael Rounds, Governor

Attest:

Chris Nelson, Secretary of State